B-WAY DIGITAL

Four Months to the US Presidential Elections: An Inside Briefing

Wednesday, July 1, 2020 | 5:00 PM Israel Time (10:00 AM EST)
Livestream on the INSS website and social media

As the U.S. enters a heated presidential election, a panel of America's top political experts will delve into the state of play, including polling, the most recent developments in each campaign, forecasting and the impact of the election on the relationship between Israel and the United States. Critical analysis will also include American Jewry's role in the elections and longer term influences on Israel from a national security perspective.

Opening Remarks

Ambassador Daniel Shapiro, Distinguished Visiting Fellow at the Institute for National Security Studies (INSS)

Representative Steve Israel, Director, Institute of Politics and Global Affairs at Cornell University

Panel Discussion

David Axelrod, Director, Institute of Politics at the University of Chicago and former Senior Advisor to President Barack Obama

Representative Tom Davis, former National Republican Campaign Committee Chair

Dr. Shira Efron, Visiting Fellow at the Institute for National Security Studies (INSS)

Closing Remarks

Maj. Gen. (ret.) Amos Yadlin, Executive Director of the Institute for National Security Studies (INSS)

The panelists will take questions from the virtual audience.
Questions can be posted during the INSS Facebook livestream.
