Losing the Long Game:
The False Promise of Regime
Change in the Middle East
by Philip Gordon

Monday | November 16, 2020

The Institute for National Security Studies (INSS) is pleased to invite you to an online book launch. Dr. Gordon will present his case against American attempts at forcing regime changes in the Middle East, from Iran in 1953 to the unsuccessful attempt in Syria in 2011. A panel discussion will follow, in which experts will discuss American foreign policy in the Middle East, (failed) attempts at regime changes in the region, and the implications of these activities for Israel.
