Check Point Seminar

Gathering Intelligence through Internet-Wide Port Scanning, led by Shahar Tal, Vulnerability & Security Research Team Leader, Check Point

About the Seminar: 2013 has been a remarkable year in the field of Internet Port Scanning, presenting a new generation of scanning tools & techniques, and unprecedented datasets released to public domain. In this workshop we will demonstrate how attackers use port scanning tools and browse publicly available scan data to identify potential targets and detect vulnerable attack vectors. We will describe and follow a landscape-changing case study and experiment by scanning IP ranges in a live session and analyzing the results. Workshop attendees will gain actionable knowledge they can use for penetration testing and defensive purposes.

SenseCy Seminar

In this day and age of the growing threat from Cyber-attacks against companies and organizations and with the rising amount of breaches, data thefts and hacktivism attacks it does no longer suffice to build a proper defensive mechanism but also to understand the different threat vectors, actors and techniques. In this two-hour seminar, we will review the world of Cyber Intelligence and try to understand what kind of data is available for companies and organizations that seek to defend themselves. We will do so utilizing real world intelligence collected and analyzed by SenseCy's Cyber Intelligence analysts.

- Introduction to Cyber Intelligence, Assaf Keren, CTO, SenseCY
- Cyber Crime Intelligence Use Case, Presented by Mrs. Tanya Koyfman, Senior Analyst, Cyber-Crime, SenseCY
- Hacktivism Intelligence Use Case, Presented by Mr. Gilad Zahavi, Director of Cyber Intelligence, SenseCY
