Anat N. Kurz is the Director of Research, a senior research, fellow and editor of INSS Insight at INSS. She holds an MA degree in social psychology and a PhD in political science from Tel Aviv University. Dr. Kurz has lectured and published extensively on the institutionalization processes of organized popular struggles and their oscillation between political and violent courses of action, the Palestinian national movement, Israeli-Palestinian relations, and policy dilemmas of dealing with sub-state conflicts. She has taken part in forums and conferences on strategic affairs, Middle Eastern security, and conflict resolution, as well as Track-II Israeli-Palestinian and regional meetings. She is a member of the editorial board of Strategic Assessment, the INSS quarterly. Her current research focuses on Israeli-Palestinian and intra-Palestinian politics.

Dr. Kurz's most recent major publications are Fatah and the Politics of Violence: The Institutionalization of a Popular Struggle (Sussex Academic Press and JCSS (2005) and The Palestinian Uprisings: War with Israel, War at Home. (2009). She is the editor and contributing author of Contemporary Trends in World Terrorism (1987); editor of Islamic Terrorism and Israel: Hizballah, Palestinian Islamic Jihad and Hamas (1993); co-writer of Hamas: Radical Islam in a National Struggle (1997); and co-editor and contributing author to the INSS annual volume Strategic Survey for Israel 2009 - 2016 and The Lessons of Operation Protective Edge (2014). She is also co-editor of Arms Control Dilemmas: Focus on the Middle East (2012); and Arms Control and National Security: New Horizons (2014).
